If the Father is "in heaven", where is that heaven?

Heaven is wherever God is. The word "heaven" does not designate a place but, rather, indicates God's presence, which is not bound by space and time. We should not look for heaven above the clouds. Wherever we turn to God in his glory and to our neighbor in his need; wherever we experience the joys of love; whenever we convert and allow ourselves to be reconciled with God, heaven opens there. "Not that God is where heaven is, but rather heaven is where God is" (Gerhard Ebeling).

What does it mean to say, "Hallowed be thy name"?

To "hallow" or to treat God's name as something holy means to place him above everything else. A "name" in Sacred Scripture indicates the true nature of a person. To hallow God's name means to do justice to his reality, to acknowledge him, to praise him, to give him due honor, and to live according to his commandments.

What does it mean to say, "Thy kingdom come"?

When we pray, "Thy kingdom come", we call for Christ to come again, as he promised, and for God's reign, which has already begun here on earth, to prevail definitively. Francois Fenelon says, "To will everything that God wills, and to will it always, in all circumstances and without reservations: that is the kingdom of God which is entirely within." (YOUCAT questions 518-520) .
